Auto plates transformed into mobile feast for eyes

1985 - Paul Spencer forms Cruiser Accessories and introduces the Chain and Twist license plate frames, creating the designer license plate frame product category. The Chain frame is still sold today.

1991 - Cruiser Accessories grows by expanding into Canada, Mexico and South America.

1995 - The Classic frame is introduced, a version of which is still sold today.

1996 - Cruiser Accessories moves from Torrance, California to Monument, Colorado.

Internal efficiency boosts sales

2004 - Todd Spencer sees a unique mudflap system and finds it intriguing. He recognizes it as a way to solve a problem he had and thought he could help others protect what they tow as well. The system was redesigned and reengineered to manufacture a better product for a larger market.

2005 - Cruiser Accessories introduces the Diamondesque, which quickly became the #1 frame in the automotive aftermarket.

2008 - Rock Tamers grows by expanding into Australia.

2010 - Cruiser Accessories acquires the IP for the Rock Tamers mudflap system.

2014 - Rock Tamers launches a new and improved website. Rock Tamers are featured on Velocity Channels' Motorhead Garage.

2014-2017 - Cruiser Accessories grows by expanding into Advance Auto, Auto Zone, Auto Zone MX, Canadian Tire, Pep Boys & Menards.

2017 - Cruiser Accessories began shipping larger US retailers directly from China (Direct Import).

2018 - Cruiser Accessories grows into O'Reilly Auto Parts, Blain's and Walmart Canada. A second warehouse is temporarily added to handle the large amount of products needed to meet the growth.

2018 - Sadly, our founder Paul Spencer passed away.

2020 - The third generation of Spencer's began working for the family business.

2022 - Cruiser Accessories and Rock Tamers begins exhibiting at SEMA, moving away from AAPEX.

2023 - Production begins in India, diversifying the global supply chain.

2024 - Rock Tamers grows by offering a Recovery Rope Kit for sale.

2025 - Rock Tamers grows by expanding into entirely new product categories: Cargo Management, Vehicle Recovery & Truck Accessories.
